LINCOLN IMPROVES W-V SERIES

Four new enhancements make a great window even better.

Merrill, WI. (May 5, 2008) – Lincoln's W-V windows offer the benefits of a durable low-maintenance vinyl exterior while maintaining the beauty of a fine wood interior. Recent upgrades give the W-V Series added performance and improved appearance.

Whether for a home or light commercial project, the W-V Series is an excellent choice. The uPVC vinyl clad exterior is available in three colors including: White, Sandstone and now Adobe! All W-V window sash are now manufactured with cope joints instead of mitered joints. This design change gives the windows a more aesthetically pleasing traditional look and complements Lincoln's other window lines. When it comes to exterior trim, customers can now choose between a 2" brickmould or a 3-1/2" flat trim in all three W-V colors. These casing options come factory applied and include nailing fins. Both casings incorporate a 1" J-channel pocket extruded into the trim for quick installation of many siding types.

The Lincoln Fit Double Hung Replacement Kit is now available with the W-V exterior. It's the perfect remodeling solution for those customers who want the combination of a low-maintenance exterior with a wood interior. All three exterior colors, including White, Sandstone and Adobe are available with the new coped style sash.

The W-V Series couples excellent performance ratings with design flexibility. The vinyl clad exterior, together with a paintable or stainable wood interior, is adaptable to any personal style or interior décor concept. Strength, durability and style – Lincoln builds on tradition with a common-sense approach to windows and the W-V Series.
